AIA Policy – Uncompensated Interns

Release/Understanding (each entrant is required to sign a release)

It is policy of The American Institute of Architects that individuals participating in awards programs sponsored by the AIA on Receiving awards from such programs are required to sign a declaration stating that neither they individually or any firm which they are an owner or manager employ unpaid intern architects.

I have read, understand, and accept the AIA Silicon Valley policy that: Any architect desiring to promote or to be promoted by the AIA Silicon Valley, through involvement in any awards programs, publications, or speaking engagements, certify that they and/or their firms refrain from employing unpaid interns in their professional practice.
